Those running the show

(Like most media, politicians, well-to-do upper level, proponents of using legalese, and Fourth Branch Government) have not experienced and do not understand what working people have and are experiencing

Subject: Real World

With age comes wisdom, and I am at the end of my run. I know my father was frustrated by me not using what he had learned about the real world, and with older experienced folks being ignored, the world is in a mess.

I can only speak about what I have experienced as a rural person and fifty plus years as a field forester. As one who has worked hard, gotten to a top, trained and lead people, I have found most in control (like most politicians) do not understand some basic things. I have gone through being a liberal progressive, being a conservative, and now just knowing real world truths are in play. I do not accept unproven theory, speculation, and protectionism, and I have been out-front by putting my thoughts into two books.

With older folks being ignored, the world is in a mess, Trump is a SOB that says a lot of real world truths in a way many working people think and act, and World war III is going to be a dousey.

When you are in over your head or

Facing a problem you have never faced before

Experience and common sense are golden

(Unproven legalese, theory, speculation, and protectionism are for the birds)

We need to feel good about what we have learned and done. Many need to shut-up and let field experience, common sense, and proven real world truths be the guide to getting things done right.

We can only attempt to do what we can to make things better.
