To whom it May Concern (i.e. Humboldt County Citizens Advisory Committee on Measure Z and Humboldt County Board of Supervisors):

We, as trustees of the Mattole Unified School District, and parents, all of whom have children who attend schools in our district, are writing to express our concerns about the deplorable state of the roads in the Mattole Valley.

The students in our district travel the roads to and from school every day, and all of them, including Mattole Road, which connects our two school sites, one in Honeydew and the other in Petrolia, are strewn with numerous large and unavoidable potholes. These obstructions often cause vehicles to have to swerve to avoid them creating unsafe conditions for all of the residents in the Valley.

Other main roads upon which our bus travels, such as Lighthouse, and a road close to the school upon which many students reside, Chambers Road, are so badly maintained that there are stretches where it is impossible not to hit a pothole no matter how skillfully one drives.

We are hopeful that you will consider allocating a substantial or at least adequate amount of Measure Z funds to resurfacing and comprehensively repairing and maintaining our roads so as to ensure the safety of the students and other residents of the Mattole Valley.

Sincerely,

Mattole Unified School District Trustees:

Gabrielle Cohen/ President

Dear Folks:

I was listening to Fox Report tonight, and the speakers were touching on the accompanying enclosed thoughts.

Sadly

Too many

Are not getting it

Dear Folks:

I assume it will not mean much, but as field forester for fifty plus years in the redwoods, I heard a lot of B.S. about redwoods on Strange Inheritance program last Sunday night. As required by state law, who was the California Registered Forester who will support all that was said on the program?

It is this kind of B.S. that is causing many to misunderstand the redwood situation

Respectfully,

Charles L. Ciancio

Subject: The real world

Some say my repetitiously providing the following food for thought (caused by theory, speculation, and protectionism) is a laughing matter. By no one talking to me, I have to assume my provided numbers and thoughts (which come from many sources) are being ignored. If I am shown wrong, I have no problem being corrected by the truth; however, I find my numbers and thoughts to be very close to being right-on. Maybe those in control need to get into-the-game.

Private tax base is shrinking especially in Humboldt County

- Where half the economy is dependent on the taxpayers.
- Where out of total Humboldt County acreage, around 300,000 acres (over 15% of county's timbered area and over 10% of county's total ownership) is in privately owned timberland and over 30% of timberland (smaller and lesser percentage of total land) is in United States Forest Service and other public ownership.
- Where a shrinking 80% of the wood used in California comes from out of the state when all California wood needs are grown on private timberlands without including any growth on USFS and other public ownership.
- Where California land is around fifty percent publicly owned.
- Where uncontrolled fire is growing larger through lack of timberland management and letting snags and fire fuel levels build.
- Where the richest timberland in the world, the redwoods, especially in Humboldt County, are being put into preservations and parks like the least visited Redwood National Park.
- Where Humboldt Bay is not fully utilized
- Where many timber owners are finding growing trees is a bad investment as timber producing lands, privately owned timber land is sold, and privately owned open space is being eliminated.
- Where economic dependence will depend on marijuana growing which will go in the tank as soon as marijuana is legalized and the big guys take over.
- Where tourism, farming, and other industries are replacing the by-far lost, better paying, and tax generating timber industry jobs.
- Where creation of food and habitats liked by spotted owls, deer, mountain lions, fisheries, and other wanted species is being reduced.
- And on and on and on where taxpaying, low to low middle income, producing, rural life is disappearing, and populous minority vote by those in control is promoted.

Iowa primaries showed me the following:

Socialism is preferred by many in this country

(Taxpayers are on the short end of the stick)

Money, populous areas, and politicians control the vote

Minority controls the vote

(Rural folks being a voting minority)

Experienced input and real world truths go wanting

(All the candidates have not lived the life lived by many)

Rural working folks

(farming, coal, timber, and other rural interests)

Are SOL

Based on my life's experiences,

I see

Theory, Speculation, and Protectionism
Eliminating diversity, reducing populations of many species,
Stimulating more uncontrolled fire,
and
Destroying many rural economies,

My son said we can not change anything and need to go with the flow. Supervisors, those in control, etc. can be insulted, called in question, etc., and they will still not talk to many who have experienced the real world.

1. I have learned experience is needed to properly handle real world problems. All the candidates for President and many politicians have not lived the life lived by many, especially in rural areas.
2. I have learned rural folks are a minority based on populous vote (like Native Americans, black folks, and, and latinos.), and they are not recognized as a minority
3. My son says the world is what is it, and it can't be changed

Well I may be ignored, but I and many others are not built to accept things as they are, and I will continue to speak out in an attempt to make things better. Letting those in control (like the voting populous areas which have made the rural folks a voting minority) have a free ride is not in my nature. Experience is a good teacher, and in many ways, applying theory, speculation, and protectionism can be a bad thing. The revolutionaries found this to be true regarding the British and I am finding this to be true regarding rural life, forestry, and wildlife matters. Giving-up is not an option for me, and if no one tells the truth, the truthful thing will never get done

HI Ho! HiHo!

As one who is ignored

and

After fifty years in the real world

Especially in California and in rural areas

I see a lot of hurt coming

On northwest coast of California

By far high paying private timber industry will not be replaced with low paying tourism jobs
(Orick and least visited Redwood National Park being examples).

At meeting north of California State border, room full of so-called forestry and wildlife experts went silent

When it was stated there was less need for taxpayer supported jobs

(Involving fisheries, wildlife, fire control, and many other jobs)

When the private timber industry was gone

When Marijauna is made legal

Big producers will take over and Humboldt County private economy will go further in the tank
