Welcome to Humboldt County California's Redwood Coast

A wonderland for nature lovers, Humboldt is renowned as the home of the coast redwoods. Half of the remaining old growth survivors of this ancient species reside here, including the world's tallest tree in Redwood National Park and the amazing champions along the Avenue of the Giants.

Images, songs and words have tried to capture them, but those who have fallen under their spell, from presidents to poets to picture takers, declare they must be seen in person. Redwoods impress in smaller forests, but here in their ultimate glory, like DaVincis or Monets, these masterpieces stir profound emotions: tears, smiles, laughter and, often, utter silence.

For those who make the pilgrimage, the 2,000-year-old big trees are only the beginning of a California adventure. The legendary Lost Coast, Bigfoot Country and Victorian seaports and villages offer superb settings for outdoor, art and taste discoveries.

Ten Must-Dos

- 1. Avenue of the Giants. This 31-mile road is perhaps the most amazing forest drive in the world.
- 2. Shrine Drive-Thru Tree. Of three such redwoods, only this one in Myers Flat has a naturally cleaved tunnel.
- 3. Founders Grove. The giant trees here sparked the creation of Save the Redwoods League.
- 4. Albino Trees. Park has six such rare redwoods, including the striking Christmas Tree.
- 5. Rockefeller Forest. This 10,000-acre preserve is the largest contiguous stand of old growth titans.
- 6. Children's Forest. Easy loop trail under a mile; great for kids to experience the big trees.
- 7. Run a Race. The Avenue hosts marathons and shorter courses each spring and fall.
- 8. Lost Coast Drive. Bull Creek Flats/Mattole Rd leads to giant trees and state's wildest beaches.
- 9. Picnic or Swim. Women's Federation Grove has great lunch spots and kid friendly swimming holes.
- 10. Park Visitor Center. See all three redwood species and an RV made from a redwood trunk. South of Weott.

Bigfoot and Lost Coast

WILLOW CREEK River Fun, Mountain Sun

Less than an hour east of the coast, Willow Creek is the gateway to the Six Rivers National Forest, a million-acre mountainous playground with many recreational possibilities. Rafting, backpacking, fishing and mountain biking are popular undertakings. In town, the China Flat Museum displays vintage tools and the world's largest collection of Bigfoot curios, not surprising as the Bigfoot legend began here in the 1950s. Golf, wineries and roadside farm stands offer additional leisurely pursuits.

GARBERVILLE & SHELTER COVE Gateway to the Redwoods and King Range

Located in Southern Humboldt, Garberville is near some of California's finest redwood parks and beaches. A few miles north are the Avenue of the Giants and Humboldt Redwoods State Park. To the south is Richardson Grove State Park. To the west, the town of Shelter Cove gives access to the King Range National Conservation Area and the Lost Coast, the continental United States' longest stretch of wild coastline. Make Garberville your source for fuel and supplies.

The Lost Coast, Cody Badger

TRINIDAD & ORICK Seaside and Redwood Retreats

Gateway to the California Coastal National Monument, Trinidad is a coastal cliffside fishing village with sweeping views of the ocean, whether from the Memorial Lighthouse, Trinidad State Beach or Trinidad Head, a rocky promontory with trails, forests and a working lighthouse. The Humboldt State University marine lab offers kid-friendly seawater touch tanks. To the north are hidden coves off Stagecoach Road, excellent camping, hiking and beachcombing in Patrick's Point State Park and the world's tallest trees in Redwood National & State Parks near Orick.

ARCATA & BLUE LAKE Looking Forward To Your Visit

Home to Humboldt State University, Arcata offers such ecological gems as the Arcata Marsh & Wildlife Sanctuary, featuring walks through 300 acres of wetlands showcasing native birds and plants thriving within natural wastewater treatment. The Arcata Community Forest offers miles of redwood trails for hikes, bikes and horseback rides. Community life centers on the Arcata Plaza, with its varied shops, restaurants, farmers market, art walks, and events like the Arcata Bay Oyster Fest and Kinetic Sculpture Race. Five miles east, historic Blue Lake boasts the renowned Dell'Arte physical comedy theater troupe and a kid-friendly fish hatchery.
