Subject: Real World

Humans need to watch and learn

Once young with a skull full of mush and now being older, wiser, and living hard times, my thinking at 73 plus years has changed
For years, I have presented for you to read what I learned; or, as usual, you can ignore me

I have many personal thoughts which will not be presented at this time but

I would appreciate having learned and presented in writing to county supervisors, landowner groups, and many others spread around

Based on historical truths provided through the ages

And

What I have learned about real world realities

Has me “NOT” understanding and believing what many humans put forth

Because the average voter who I believe does not understand and is in the minority (Registered voters are less than total population and registered voters further are split which puts me in voting minority especially in California)
Adds to my not believing anything any more.

I see all forms of media, politicians, those who have it made,
All over the place legalese
Fourth Branch of Government (regulators), and other humans

Dividing USA and world

(As interpreted by someone, there is no one (like working folks) that has not broken a law some way, somewhere, and at some time), (Verbal diplomacy works as long as the other side isn't hurt by a sharp sword utilized by the opposing side)

being older and wiser, being hit on the head a few times,
Seeing things go badly for many species and humans,
I learned life is not fair and balanced for everything.

At the end of my life and in the voting minority
I see Trump, his supporters, and others not paying attention

“Rural America” is being outvoted

(In many ways, I see Rural America experiencing hard times)

Being of sound mind and body, living real world realities, and 73 plus years of age,
I have learned many things,

Humans need to “NOT” be on all sides of the fence

And

Humans need to watch and learn.
