Subject: Rest In Peace Rural America. Minority Rules

Demise of timber folks shows an inexperienced, unknowledgeable, often stupid voting population mostly located in centers of population are controlling smart, educated, well-off voting minority, and majority of world's population consisting of working, taxpaying, family, low to middle income and routinely poor folks especially in rural areas do not vote and are getting hosed.

Not being the smartest person on the block and not having experienced every bad thing, I do not know it all, but reading from my book "Rest In Peace Rural America" provides a lot of truths. "Mostly I have found where excesses by a layman populous and a Fourth Branch of Government consisting of public agencies, governmental entities, appointed commissions and boards, and the judicial system beneath the United States Supreme Court are working to hurt Rural America. I was taught our forefathers recognized the potential for populated states to control less populated states." Look around, what our forefathers feared is coming true.

A problem solver using real world truths and common sense will agree with me.

Respectfully,

Charles L. Ciancio
