Charles L. Ciancio

I have not been bashful about what I believe

(By writing to many, in many ways made and still making public presentations to others and presenting the accompanying “food for thought”, participating in current legal processes, being on Public Access TV, writing a self-published book)

I see us split among many groups and in many ways

I have been lead to believe there are those who push one side

(Using theory, speculation, and protectionism)

And

(Intentionally explaining away wrongs)

Or

(Simply not paying attention to the real world)

And

Others who recognize real world problems and use real world truths solve these problems

I have seen and learned how field experience is ignored and not utilized

(Which uses historically and experienced peer reviewed science and site specific facts mixed with a little logic and common sense)

By

Working, taxpaying, family, low to low middle income, producing folks)

(Who I see as an Atlas busy with life)

And

Others who should know better

I seen many let real world realities be controlled

By

(Routinely inexperienced, unaccountable, and unknowledgeable media, politicians, those with money and power, often heavy-handed, confusing, unjustified, misinterpreted, misapplied legalese process, uncaring and unaffected folks, and inexperienced Fourth Branch of Government)

Real World Truths Are Not Always Fair And Balanced

Atlas Is Shrugging

There is a better way

To: Those who want to learn

I have to conclude my repeatedly telling what I see coming based on my life's experiences mostly ignored by those controlling things. While the good weather and other real life circumstances will keep me telling what I see coming, and sadly if all I see happening happens, a lot of species and humans are in for a world of hurt.

Some things needing attention are as follows:

1. What is the difference between hurt or death from a domestic act or act of terror? Whoever is hurt or killed is hurt or killed and punishment should be the same.
2. Is it right for the same severe penalty (i.e. fish and game violation or working man violating some timber harvest rule) to be applied to an action that hurts or kills a human.
3. Is it right many trying to do right are finding there are so many rules and regulations and interpretations of rules and regulations being applied that no one, I say NO ONE, can not be in violation of some rule or regulation somewhere at some time and in some way?

Accompanying "Food For Thought" list provides a listing of things needing attention locally and elsewhere. In the near future, I expect to present this list to groups who are not laughing at me and who live in my real world. This list contains many things that should be handled by those in control, but especially in rural areas and in California, I am having trouble finding anyone with enough gumption to change where I see things headed.
