To whom it may concern:

Trevor Earley was a student/athlete at Ferndale High School from 2011-2015. He was a member of the Ferndale High Varsity Football Team during those years. He was unique to be on Varsity as a Freshman and I knew him as his Head Coach during his years of playing football at Ferndale.

Trevor was a valuable member of our League and North Coast Section championship teams. He was a big, strong and talented offensive and defensive lineman who played a key role on our teams and achieved All-League status. He was a hard worker whose role on the team increased as he progressed from his freshman to senior year. Trevor matured into being a Captain and one of the leaders of our team.

An example of Trevor's growth and maturity is when he ended up on the same side of the offensive line working with a teammate he had a disagreement with early in high school. They played and practiced next to each other thru the first games of the season and then the coaches were thinking about moving Trevor to the other side for better balance. The two came to me and asked that they stay working together because they enjoyed working together. To me, that was an important insight as Trevor was able to overcome differences and do what's best for the team.

Trevor came to Ferndale for some better opportunities and lived away from Southern Humboldt for those four years. He was able to navigate those years and graduate from Ferndale High but to me it was clear that his home was always in Southern Humboldt. I felt I could tell by his manner and the way he spoke about it, Trevor's heart was always in Southern Humboldt where his family was and where he grew up. To honor him with a bridge name in Southern Humboldt would be to honor someone who loved his home area and its' people.

Sincerely

Kim Jorgensen
