Hi Michael,

Attached is the alternate access map for Cisco Farms. It begins on the Project parcel where the county-maintained road ends. The Benemann Trust owns the project parcel 105-101-011 and the exit of the route is on a property owned by Conklin Creek LLC, also owned in partnership with the Benemann Trust fiduciaries. I've attached the Secretary of State filings that show Karl (Cisco) and Ester as Member-managers of Conklin Creek LLC.

The route is gravel as it heads south, then when it turns west, because native surface, but is flat and easily navigable by a passenger car. It eventually links up with the driveway of 795 Conklin Cr. Road where the buildings are above the vineyard rows on the map. From there on out, the driveway is paved.

Cisco informed me that there is no formal easement for use of the road/s, but neighbors have an understanding that it can be used in times of emergencies. Cisco also regularly uses the route with a 4x4 cart when moving between his two properties since he basically owns the start and end of the route. As he (in part) controls the egress onto Conklin Creek Road, the neighbors allow use of the road where it borders their properties so that they may in turn use the route through his property if and when emergencies arise.

A note about the map: I used an application called onX Hunt that shows property ownerships. It lumps all adjacent parcels with the same owners into one block, so all the individual parcels owned by Conklin Creek LLC are not shown, just the perimeter of the ownership. I included the relevant parcel numbers on the map.

Let me know if you need anything else.

Happy Fall,
Kate
