WHEREAS, hunger is a daily experience for many people in Humboldt County with more than 40% of low-income adults experiencing food insecurity, over 17% of seniors, and 28% of children living in poverty which more than doubles to 57% if the household is led by a single mother; and

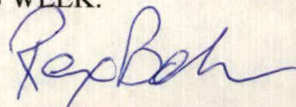

WHEREAS, the California Center for Rural Policy reported in their Humboldt County Food Assessment that more than 31% of adults experience food insecurity while 37% of households with children experience food insecurity. Most live on fixed incomes or survive paycheck to paycheck; and
