Hello, my name is Clayton Church, and I was born and raised on property adjacent to the parcel in question. There has been a long history of the owners being bad neighbors and bad land-owners; from simple nuisances like letting their pets roam on neighboring property and playing music so loud it can be heard more than a mile away to more serious issues like a complete unwillingness to pay their share of dues to the local road organization despite trucking in large quantities of water and gas, lights shining into the sky so brightly it has caused multiple false fire alarms, and digging up huge sections of hillside and throwing up structures without permits. It is difficult to describe how dishonest and distasteful their behavior has been without seeming to rant and rave about problems without limit, but they really are the worst neighbors I have ever had the misfortune to experience. Most important to you, I would think, are their unpermitted and generally hazardous acts but I want you to hear me when I say that these misbehaviors are the result of malice and indifference, not mere accidents and ignorance.
