Cool little kids with Ganja signs abd pot leaves all over --- great idea.

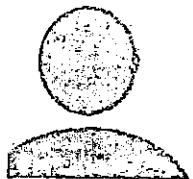

Allen Hey-Soos • a day ago

Me neither, how could little kids be in that parade?

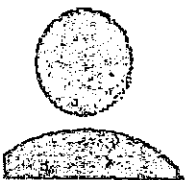

Jus'sayin • 2 days ago

Child abuse (and nice goat)...

Allen moviedad • a day ago

I agree, canibus is not for little kids, there should not have been little kids there, anymore than they would be in an alcohol or vodka or tobacco smoking parade, that's child abuse.

Joe Hey Now • 2 days ago

So because someone objects to having kids celebrate cannabis you are suggesting they are white supremacists? Nice.

Notyurma loleta dude • 2 days ago

Schedule 1 federal offense. Not over yet.

Connie Dobbs Fred Krissman • 18 hours ago

Don't forget the kids who only go to three quarters of school each year because they're kept home to trim.

RF Christa Christie • a day ago

"lots of fun stuff set up for the kids" ,should not be in a review of a weed parade.

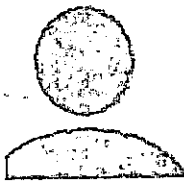

Lost Cause Outburst • a day ago

It's all good. The kids get it. The Little boy on the float next to the gal with the "Cat's Meow" sign, is holding an American flag that reads, "Inappropriate Parenthood."

Matt Stuber • 2 days ago

Kids 12 and under get in free? Why can't we let kids be kids? I'm irritated and I'm not even a parent

So it is also child abuse anytime some drinks beer or wine around their children . I would say anyone that feeds their children fastfood more than once a month is also abusing their child

2Wrong's≠Right Truth • 2 days ago

When a Bud light and a big Mac make it to the federal top ten list of things you can go to prison for, you can make that comparison cupcake.

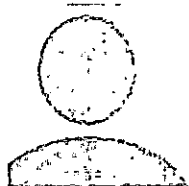

OldArcatan • 2 days ago

I'm guessing more people would have turned out, but they were too stoned to make an effort. Good thing the non-tokers -- kids, dogs and goat -- were available to add to the numbers, right? I did like the Bozo, though...confirming that they're all Bozos on that bus.

JahDill • 2 days ago

City of Arcata has figured out how to convert the forbidden 420 Day celebration into a neutered smoke free cash cow for the downtown. Too bad almost nobody attended. Serious weed people are busy working on the hill today. This event was more for HSU kids and their parents.

RF Bushytails • a day ago

It reminded me of being young and walking through puke in Boston's St Paddys day parade 50 years ago. It was all so fun looking...kids are so impressionable. When is the Teacher parade? Fireman parade? Penicillin parade? Things that kids should see the community honoring.

Bushytails • 2 days ago

This makes me want to hold a pro- alcohol and tobacco rally, with a bunch of kids present and promoting the products. Not because I think it's a good idea, but just to point out how fucking stupid it is to be aiming pot at kids.

Humboldt10 Bushytails • 2 days ago

Maybe Arcata could have a vodka parade with little children of brain dead parents dressing them up as vodka bottles. Raising them right.

Savior To None • 2 days ago

I've always laughed at the use of cannabis and culture together to describe random people brought together by inserting a certain set of chemical compounds into their bodies and minds in order to alter said minds and bodies. Can tobacco culture, alcohol culture, cocaine culture, meth culture, heroin culture, etc ad Infinitum each get a parade and equally glowing write-up in the local paper? Or... are those all different. Because Cannabis is different. Or maybe I just don't get it, man.

moviedad loleta dude • 2 days ago

It has to do with Kids being part of the show, and the fact that it's so close to HSU, it almost looks like it's a university event. Pot, like beer; is for adults to enjoy during their leisure time, hopefully. It just feels icky to see kids involved in promoting cannabis. People are going to have an issue with that, regardless of their views on the overall issue.

CHANGED LIVES

Serving Our Community Since 1967

An Invitation to our Fundraiser Dinner

John Ashmen

The Eureka Rescue Mission will be holding a fundraiser dinner on September 8th at the Sequoia Conference Center. Our goal is to raise funds for our building/renovation project and our ministry in general. For the last several years we have been in the planning, architectural and permit process. Within the last year all of this planning has come to fruition resulting in a new facility. Currently, we are in the process of renovating our men's shelter which will open it up to better accommodate the homeless individuals who come through our doors. Our fundraiser dinner will be a time of good food, fellowship and keynote speaker. The theme will be "Changed lives help create a healthy community." Our guest speaker will be John Ashmen. John is in his 10th year as President of the Association of Gospel Rescue Missions (AGRM) which exists to "proclaim the passion of Jesus toward the hungry, homeless, abused, and addicted." He holds a Bachelor of Science degree in Bible, with a Social Work emphasis, from Cairn University and has a Master's degree in Organizational Management from the University of Phoenix. John speaks internationally and is also the author of the book "Invisible Neighbors." John has been active in meeting with government officials, recently meeting with U.S. Health and Human Services Secretary Tom Price and leaders from ten other organizations to talk about America's opioid epidemic, discussing strategies to combat it. In addition, he recently traveled to Washington D.C. to speak at a House briefing on the Impact of Tax Reform on Charitable Giving. We are excited to have John come to our fundraising event and share with us. After speaking, we will provide a time for questions and answers. Tickets are $30 each or you can sponsor a table of 6 for $175. They are available to purchase through our board members or you can call our office at 707-445-3787. We hope to see you there.

Graduates of the Eureka Rescue Mission's New Life Program have a minimum of 6 months after graduation to continue staying at the Mission taking advantage of this time in order to seek gainful employment and save their money toward moving out into permanent housing. Some have already found gainful employment and started work right away. Many of the graduates pictured here have already moved back with family and others have moved into their own apartments. It is a blessing to play a part in helping these men rebuild their lives. Our prayers are with them all.

Subject: Human thinking is a mess.

Being part of a voting minority, I see no one talking to me including the Humboldt Board of Supervisors. Humans are divided in this country, and how I learned to think. The following provides some of my thoughts and food for thought.

As an old person who has experienced rural life and who is an experienced field forester, I have learned good health is number one, and I believe everything lives and survives based on sunlight, water, and nutrients (food).

I see the world in a mess. In the real world and on the local level, law enforcement folks ignore my breaking human created regulations, laws, and ordinances. On the world level, some serious stuff is happening. Bill Mahr (Spelling????) says Trump would act like a dictator, and while I believe Trump doesn't have it all together, I also believe things are set-up in this country where a dictator can't take control. Why was media reporting slanted involving Berkley's riots?

"I" try to follow all regulations, laws, or ordinances; because, doing otherwise provides a target for those who enforce the regulations, laws, or ordinances. If you are truthful, I ask "Have you ever broken a human created regulation, law, or ordinance involving housing, zoning, county regulations, gun laws, and harvesting trees??"

Being part of an old experienced ignored voting minority, I see problems facing species and humans increasing. I see dependence on hi-tech not ending well, and I see few to no one paying attention to field experienced people.

Think about it !!!! Experience is overlooked.
