DISCUSSION:

The Supervising Therapist and Occupational Therapist job classifications language was updated to bring the job specification language current with the licensure requirements and standards for the position, as well as updated duties related to the position in the Medical Therapy Unit. Along with updating the job specification, this item updates the position duties so they are client- and family-centered, reflective of terms used or not used in the population that is served and to be gender neutral. By doing this, it allows the Supervising Therapist and Occupational Therapist job classifications to be current and aligned with other Medical Therapy Unit programs across the State of California.

The adoption of these amended classifications will increase DHHS's ability to more effectively continue the services provided by the Public Health branch of DHHS by performing highly specialized therapeutic services to the community; and selecting, training, and evaluating the work of assigned personnel. The Supervising Therapist position requires a highly specialized skillset, including valid certification to practice as Physical Therapist by the Physical Therapy Board of California or possess a valid license to practice as an Occupational Therapist issued by the Board of Occupational Therapy of California. In addition to these licensure requirements, the amended job specification for the Supervising Therapist requires the incumbent have 3 years of credentialed experience performing physical and/or occupational therapy with children, including 2 years of experience in treating children with cerebral palsy or other neuro-muscular or musculoskeletal conditions. The Occupational Therapist requires the incumbent be a graduate of an American Occupational Therapy Association (AOTA) or the Accreditation Council for Occupational therapy education (AOTE) certified college or university and requires 1 year of credentialed experience performing occupational therapy with children, including case management experience, in order to qualify. Additionally, these updates clarify other duties and job functions performed by these classifications to appropriately describe the requirements for these classifications. Additionally, these amended and retitled job specifications have been met and conferred upon with AFSCME Local 1684, who has agreed to these proposed changes.
